MARYVILLE FOLK IN MOVIES

Villain, Hero and Bride all local Stars. House Scenes at R. G. Saunders' Home.

Maryville theatre goers will recognize several of the local stars, likewise some of their best friends in the photo play of "The Man at the Throttle," which will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night of next week at the Fern theatre.

The reel is in the making now, in fact it's in our midst.

It is being directed by C. D. Tinsley of the Superior Film company and the cast is composed of local people. The house scenes are taken in the residence of R. G. Saunders on West First street. A number were taken there yesterday and along the streets. The story is a very thrilling one, and one of the big scenes is the wreck of a fast mail train.

The stars of the play, and the characters they portray are:

Bernard Powers, superintendent of railroad, A. J. Luppold.

Helen, his daughter, Miss Ethel Wells. Jack Manning, an engineer, W. Edison Blagg.

Jim Hilton, another engineer, Frank Schumacher.

Others of the cast, Miss Bessie Scott and Miss Ola Smith.

One of the scenes is that of a wedding, and it will be staged in the First Christian church, under the direction of Mrs. Will Wallis, Jr. The wedding will be portrayed as a very fashionable event of unusual beauty. All of the parts, beside that of the stars, will be taken by local people and all of the scenes will be taken in or near Maryville.

FIRE DAMAGES EPPERSON HOME.

$25 Loss Caused by Defective Flue. Extinguished With Chemicals.

A fire at the home of G. L. Epperson, 115 West Eleventh street originating presumably from a defective flue, caused about $25 damages this morning. A hole was burned through the floor of the garret. The fire was extinguished by the use of chemicals and no water was turned on.

Just as the men of the fire department were leaving the fire house with apparatus and wagon the bolt holding the single tree broke and a slight delay was caused while the broken bolt was wired.

FOOTBALL ASSURED

BUT NO OUTSIDE GAMES WILL BE PLAYED THIS YEAR.

WARD SCHOOLS CHANGE

Miss Margaret McDougal Transferred to Central Building.—Small Attendance at Franklin.

Maryville High School will play football this year but will schedule no outside games, it was announced by Superintendent W. M. Westbrook this morning, after a conference with George P. McGrew, principal of the High school, and Paul Becker, director of athletics.

The boys will first be required to condition themselves fully before scrimmage will be allowed. This will be done chiefly by running signals and learning the fundamentals of the game. Every boy will have to have his parent's consent before entering scrimmage.

The decision not to have outside games is a disappointment to the seniors principally as it means no football in high school for them.

A few games may be played between picked teams but the work will be chiefly as preparation for the game next year and to get the athletes in shape for basketball.

The active basketball season will begin about December 1. The executive committee has definitely decided to enter the Northwest Missouri Inter-High School association. The application will be sent soon. This association has had charge of the track meets in the spring but is taking charge of all athletics this year.

The board of control will meet in Kansas City November 4-6 at which time a schedule will be arranged. J. C. Godbey of Tarkio is president of the association and P. C. Callaway of Mound City secretary.

Change in Teaching Force.

Miss Margaret McDougal of the Franklin school has been transferred to the Central building and all the fourth grades of the ward schools will be changed back to Washington. Each of the other schools will have three teachers with a grade each except at the Franklin school where two teachers will have a grade and a half each.

This change was thought advisable by Superintendent Westbrook because of the heavy enrollment at all the ward schools except Franklin where the attendance is small.

A PENNY TO HANSEN

ONE CENT DAMAGES ASSESSED UPON JOHN G. THORNHILL.

NO PUNITIVE DAMAGES

Jury Finds That Penny Will Cover Actual Loss.—Case Attracts a Large Crowd.

"We, the jury in the case of John F. Hansen vs. John G. Thornhill, find for the plaintiff for actual damages only, and assess such damages at one cent, one-one hundredths of a dollar. H. H. McClurg, foreman."

The suit was probably the most interesting of this season of circuit court. A crowded court room followed the evidence yesterday and the attorneys arguments to the jury late in the afternoon and last night.

John G. Thornhill slapped Hansen and called him a few names he could think of; he admitted that frankly on the stand. The trouble took place in the Knox garage, March 31, 1915. Mr. Thornhill said that he was ashamed and sorry for his words and actions.

J. A. Ford and E. E. ("Doe") Thompson were eye witnesses who were called to the stand.

Thompson made a small sensation by saying that Hansen met him on the street recently and offered to get him a Ford with the money he won in the suit and put him into the "jitney" business, if he would testify as the plaintiff desired.

Hansen asserted that his shoulder was broken and that he was incapacitated for work as he had been able to make 500 cigars a day previously and now could only make 180 daily when at his best. He had suffered great anguish of mind also, he said.

The defense produced J. H. Thorp, Mrs. Edward F. Hamlin, and several other neighbors who testified that Hansen had been doing all kinds of manual labor around his home.

Several of the physicians of the city were placed upon the stand and gave as their opinion that any injury he may have had was greatly aggravated by such labor.

After Thornhill had admitted striking Hansen, the attorneys for the defense turned all their energies toward mitigating the amount of the damages to be assessed. Judge Ellison's instructions to the jury were that they must find for the plaintiff if they held from the evidence that Thornhill had laid hand unlawfully upon Hansen.

The jury's duty, then, the judge said, was to determine how much damage was done to Hansen and how much should be assessed as punitive and exemplary. The evidence produced to show provocation could affect only the amount of the punitive damage and could not be considered in finding the amount of actual harm done Hansen.

Plaintiff on Defensive.

The greater part of the case was used in a defense of Hansen as the attorneys for Thornhill turned the tables and accused Hansen. They produced evidence tending to question Hansen's good citizenship.

Mr. Thornhill was provoked into the attack, according to the testimony of the witnesses for the defense by the plaintiff's activity in trying to meddle in his affairs.

Thornhill Tried to Avoid Trouble.

Mr. Thornhill said that on the day of the trouble, he met Hansen on the west side of the square and the latter tried to start a conversation about the legal matters. He was told that he didn't want to talk with him. Mr. Thornhill went over to Knox's garage in the afternoon and Hansen came in and tried to start the talk again and the "knock-out" blow followed.

The defense asserts that Hansen followed Mr. Thornhill there and started the trouble. The plaintiff asserted that he did not know the defendant was there but had gone over to give Jim Andy Ford a special cigar he had made for him. But Hansen drew a chair directly at the side of the one in which Thornhill was sitting and started the talk.

Mr. Thornhill jumped up and slapped (according to the defense), the plaintiff clear out of the chair upon the floor. Hansen went that day to the prosecuting attorney, but Mr. Sawyers held that the facts did not warrant the state in getting out a warrant for assault.

F. P. Robinson and B. B. Martin were the attorneys for the plaintiff and the arguments before the jury for the defense were made by L. C. Cook, Wesley Blagg and John Dawson.

The jury retired to their room about 8:45 o'clock last night and a decision was reached about 11 o'clock. The jury spent the greater part of its time, it is said, in trying to give a verdict according to instructions so that the defendant would not have the costs to pay. The costs will be about $100. So Mr. Thornhill may have to pay the clerk $100.01.

Court will not be held again until Monday morning owing to Judge Ellison being indisposed. Several of the members of the bar were also indisposed. The court is technically still sitting, however, in order that the sheriff may hold several sales tomorrow.

M. E. Ford took the bench during most of the night session last night.

COUNTY COURT ADJOURNED

Asks Mrs. Henry Wray for Small Strip of Land to Build Shorter Bridge.

The county court adjourned yesterday afternoon. It ordered the destruction by fire of all assessment lists filed in the county clerk's office for 1910 and prior years.

The court has asked Mrs. Henry Wray, who lives on the township line between Hopkins and Union, for a small piece of land so that a bridge may be built straight across a ditch with a span of only thirty feet instead of diagonally requiring a span of 60 feet.

The bridge is to cost about $125 if the 30-foot span can be built. Mrs. Wray refused the court here Monday but James Downing, township trustee, who accompanied the court yesterday believes she will consent.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Heath Here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Heath of St. Paul, Minn., arrived in Maryville last night to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ritze and Mrs. Clara Ritze Heath at the Ritze home on South Mulberry street. The Heaths are former residents of Maryville.

ALEXANDER AND PHILS WIN 3-1

PREMIER PITCHER TOO MUCH FOR SLUGGING RED SOX.

SHORE WAS GOOD BUT NOT ENOUGH

Quakers Pushed One More Over in the Eighth Than "Alec the Great" Needed.—Played in Mud.

Summary of the Game.

The Score: R. H. E.
Boston . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—1 8 1
Philadelphia . . . 0 0 0 1 0 0 2 0—3 5 1
Batteries: Shore and Cady; Alexander and Burns.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Grover Cleveland Alexander the Great has won his first World's Series game, 3-1, thanks to the slugging abilities of his teammates. They even pushed one more over than he needed in the last half of the eighth after Boston had tied the score in the first of that inning.

But with his winning, he let the hitting honors go to the other pitcher for Boston got eight safeties while the winners were collecting five. Each team made an error. Shore was Carrigan's choice to uphold the honors of the Hub. He was good but not good enough.

The game was played in the mud but the sun was out and there was no wind. Gasoline, poured over the field just before the game and burned, rolled a great cloud of smoke into the stands. The teams were given a tremendous ovation as they appeared and the hundreds of Boston fans in their special section, started their famous "goat-getting" song "Tessie."

The field was jammed to its capacity of 21,000 and fully twice that number were disappointed. It seemed that all the noise that could be made, broke loose when Philadelphia scored first in the fourth but even old rooters were surprised at the bedlam which was released all over the city when the Phillies broke the tie in the last of the eighth.

100 Men Mopped Field.

The national commission announced at 10:45 this morning that the first game would be played today, notwithstanding the fact that it had rained all night long. Water was standing all over the field but the sun came out and the announcement was made.

The umpires had not yet reported on the condition of the grounds but every effort was made to get the ground in shape. More than 100 men spent the morning with scrubbing brushes, scrapers, mops and other means of removing the water.

Wagon loads of sawdust were placed all over the field, then scooped back up taking the water with it. Gasoline was burned all over the infield later in the day. Canvases were stretched all over the field and boxes last night but the rain was so heavy it ran through.

Garry Herrmann of Cincinnati, chairman of the commission, said, "Although the mud on the field is several inches deep, we are not going to disappoint the thousands if it is humanly possible not to do so."

A crowd of more than 4,000 fans who were determined to see the game, stood all night long in the rain waiting for the sale of the dollar seats for the bleachers. They were a bedraggled looking bunch and were very tired this morning as they were prevented by the rain from sitting or lying down.

The thousands stood doggedly in line, however, and there were very few deserters. Sandwiches and warm drinks had a ready sale among them and many went to sleep on the benches as soon as they were admitted to the bleachers.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

Considering the number of "library dates" which college boys and girls make, the name of the Kansas university building, Spooner library, seems very appropriate.

The burning of two homes in Nodaway county in as many days this week seems to show that Fire Prevention Day which is to be observed all over the country tomorrow is needed locally.

If something isn't done in this city to make motorists slow down somewhat at the intersection of streets and to force them to use their warning signals, Maryville will awake with a rush some day to an auto tragedy. Take Chicago then, they'll commence inspecting all the boats after the East-land has capsized.

It is said that coal is the next thing to take a boom on account of the European affair. France has been getting her coal from the Belgian mines which are now in the hands of the Germans; there is a shortage in England while Spain and Denmark are both looking this way for winter's heat. All this means increased work for the miners and increased profits for the operators but, until something has been discovered to take its place fully, there is a grave question as to whether this country should permit its coal to be exported in large quantities. The time is coming when our mines will be worked out at the present rate of consumption and the future comfort of our own people must be conserved.

The 4,000 Chicago saloons have announced that they will fight bitterly the order closing them on Sunday although that has been the Illinois law for fifty years. Still liquor men wonder why the American people have been closing an average of forty saloons a day for the last ten years. The saloon is the author of its own troubles. The everlasting determination to do something that the law does not permit by a certain number has brought grief to all and from present indications will cause the business to be outlawed throughout the whole country.

THE SENATE FILIBUSTER.

Some say filibustering in the United States senate must stop; others say not. The fact is that, when they are talking against a bill that you favor, it is a pernicious practice and should be stopped but when they are killing a bill that you are opposed to, it is a just and wise proceeding. The history of national legislation reveals but few measures for which there was a popular demand that have been defeated by the senate filibuster. Of course it is possible to defeat temporarily meritorious bills that the people have not become generally interested in. On the other hand, the filibuster has been the means of defeating some very bad legislation such as the "force bill" and others that might be mentioned. Members of the United States are supposed to be too big, too broad and too patriotic to make use of the filibuster except upon broad lines and when they believe a great wrong is involved. This supposition is not always well founded but in the main it is. An opposition that holds out in the form of public debate that is given world wide publicity must have some conscientious convictions behind it. On the other hand, there is a considerable menace to the public welfare when bills may be hurried through by sheer force of numbers. This would make it possible to pass bills on which the public was not informed without attracting much attention and might embrace more danger than the filibuster. It is a positive proposition while the filibuster is altogether negative. The filibuster has its disadvantages and has been abused but it is a safe rule in legislation to let the light shine.

Still the Comments Come.

The Federation of Women's Clubs of Maryville, Mo., distinguished itself Saturday by getting out a twenty-four page woman's edition of the Daily Democrat-Forum, the editors having turned over the paper to the ladies for that day. As may be imagined, they issued a fine paper, bright and newsy and interesting from front page to back, a credit to the ladies themselves, to their sex and to the office from which it was issued.

The managing editor of the edition was Mrs. W. C. VanCleve, the wife of one of the owners of the Democrat-Forum and a daughter of J. N. Hagood of this city. The advertising managers were also ladies, as were the department editors, twelve in number.

With courtesy and grace, in the following paragraph closing the editorial column, the ladies bowed themselves out of their position of trust and responsibility:

"Thank you, Mr. VanCleve. Thank you, Mr. Todd. It has been great fun and a novel experience. But on the level, we are perfectly willing to go back to our housekeeping and allow you to run the paper from now on. Keeping house and minding the baby is not such a tough job after all and since an all wise Providence decreed that the running of newspapers should be in the hands of mere men let us leave it so!"—La Grange, (Mo.) Indicator.

Gentlemen: Your "Woman's Edition" was a good one and reflected much credit upon its editors. I am very much interested in the Woman's Rest Rooms movement. That is something that we need badly at Carrollton. We have a room in the basement of the court room that in a way serves that purpose but it is not comfortable neither is it attractive. We would be glad to borrow the cut, (proof attached) and would be glad to hear in detail as to how you brought about the rest rooms in Maryville, plan of work, cost, how money was raised and all.

OUTBREAKS OF HOG CHOLERA

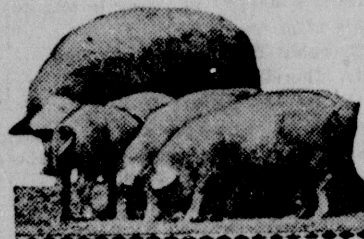

Important Thing is to Recognize Disease Soon as Possible, That Serum May Be Applied.

It is estimated that at least 90 per cent of all deaths of hogs from disease in the United States are caused by hog cholera. Therefore, in the case of any fatal outbreak, the chances are about none to one that the cause is hog cholera. It is true that other infections may and do frequently complicate outbreaks of hog cholera, but in such cases the germ of hog cholera is the primary cause of the disease; and if we can take care of the germ of hog cholera the pig will usually overcome the other infection himself.

The symptoms exhibited by hogs sick of hog cholera are not sufficiently distinct from those produced by other maladies so that a positive diagnosis can be made except through a careful consideration of a number of other factors in connection with the symptoms. From a practical standpoint the important thing is to recognize hog cholera as soon as possible after its appearance in a herd in order that anti-hog cholera serum may be applied before the disease progresses too far. Good serum may be depended upon to protect well hogs, and even to cure a large percentage of those in the earliest stages of the disease, but it will not be of much avail when used upon hogs that are already visibly sick.

The following suggestions to farmers are offered as an aid to the early recognition of hog cholera in a herd:

1. Keep posted concerning the condition and health of hogs on other farms in your neighborhood. Sick hogs on a neighboring farm are a positive menace, for the germs of hog cholera are easily carried on the feet of men or animals.
2. Look over your herd regularly in order that any sick hogs may be promptly discovered.
3. If any hogs in the herd are found to be "off feed" or appear in anywise sick, separate them immediately from the remainder of the herd, and keep them and the main herd under close observation daily. If there is a tendency for the disease to spread in the herd the trouble is probably hog cholera. This diagnosis may be confirmed by killing one of the sick animals and examining the organs.
4. When the first symptoms of sickness are observed an immediate change of feed sometimes corrects the trouble. This is particularly true of swill fed hogs.

5. If there is any tendency for the disease to spread in the herd do not temporize, but immediately treat the herd with serum from the state college or state live stock sanitary board. Prompt administration of the serum is essential to success.

6. Remember that hog cholera kills millions of hogs where other diseases kill thousands. Dismiss from your mind all thought of such diseases as "lung typhoid," etc., for these are generally merely fanciful designations given to hog cholera by uninformed men.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus DeLana will leave tomorrow afternoon for Kansas City, where Mrs. DeLana will take a train for El Reno, Okla., to visit relatives. Mr. DeLana will go to Nevada, Mo., on a business trip.

THE Wirthmor WAIST

$1 worth more

This is a question quite frequently asked—and its answer explains why the Waists sold here are entirely dissimilar, and so decidedly superior to what is ordinarily sold at the same or somewhat higher prices. We, in common with one other good store in practically every city of consequence throughout the States, have an arrangement with the maker which has materially lowered the cost of making and distributing these waists—and the large saving thus affected, has been used to give added value to the product. This it is that makes possible the sale of these wonderful Waists at just a dollar.

CLEAN WATER FOR CHICKENS

Easily Made Covered Fountain Is Shown in the Illustration—Keep Fowls Out of the Pan.

Clean water should be provided for the poultry at all times. In order to keep the fowls from getting into the drinking pan, it is necessary to make some sort of a covering. A frame built of slats attached to a small round board at the top and a larger round board placed about a foot above the water pan makes a splendid device. When placed over the pan the chickens have free access to the water through the slats, and the water keeps much cooler by being shaded. The frame cover may easily be lifted off and the water pan cleaned and re-filled. By this arrangement the chickens can not tip the water over.

CRUDE OIL GOOD FOR SWINE

Scurvy, Contracted by Animals Running in Pastures Wet With Dew or Rain, Can Be Cured.

Quite often when pigs are running in tall pasture which is frequently wet with dew or rain, an irritating effect is produced on the skin and a sore condition commonly known as scurvy is the result. This is particularly true when hogs are pastured in rape which is more likely to have this effect than other forage crops in which the pigs may be pastured.

The remedy is to apply crude oil or some similar substance which will heal up the sores and protect the skin from further irritation. Where this is not done a stoppage of growth and sometimes the loss of the pig is the result. Often this will be neglected unless some special provision is made which will permit the hog to treat itself. Sometimes burlap sacks are wrapped around a post in the pasture and kept saturated with oil. Better and more economical are some of the modern automatic devices which will apply oil in suitable quantities whenever the hog rubs as he will do against any object when his skin is irritated from any cause.

This will be just as effective in subduing lice which often prey upon hogs where attention is not given to their eradication. It is attention to little details of this kind which makes for efficiency in farm management and satisfactory profit from every department of the farm production.

DAMAGE BY CURRANT MAGGOT

Worst Pest of Small Bush Fruits—Its Attack Causes Berries to Turn Red and Drop to Ground.

(By C. P. GILLETTE, Colorado Experiment Station.)

Perhaps the worst pest to the currant and gooseberry is the maggot that gets into the fruit before the berries are ripe, causing them to turn red and drop. The adult insect is a fly, but a light yellowish brown in color with dusky bands crossing its wings. This fly deposits its eggs, one in a place, just beneath the skin of the currant and gooseberries, which upon hatching develop into the maggot. The fruit drops to the ground and the maggot escapes and burrows a little beneath the surface of the soil and remains until the next spring. We do not know any remedy aside from that of allowing chickens to run

among the currant and gooseberry bushes after the fruit is off, for the purpose of picking up these maggots in the older stages of their development. Spading the soil around the bushes so that the surface soil will be covered with four or five inches of fresh dirt will also destroy a great many of the insects. Whatever can be done toward gathering the infested fruit and destroying it will also lessen the number of flies to destroy berries the following spring.

Club Women, Please.

Next week, the club women of the city will have for their guests some of the most notable women of Missouri women who have done a large work, who have significant messages to bring to the women of Maryville and women whom it will be pleasure to open any home in the city. In all gatherings ever held here, Maryville has been toasted far and wide for her hospitality and the women of the federation whose guests these visitors will be, want the welcome shown next week to lack nothing of the real spirit of other occasions that are still told of. The visitors are to be entertained in the homes for lodging and breakfast only. The season may be a little inconvenient in some cases but the sessions are only for three days and many of the delegates will remain but one night. The tax on one's hospitality is very light and none should be unwilling. The committee of which Mrs. T. L. Wilderman is chairman, would greatly appreciate a quick response on the part of all club women. If all members would telephone the chairman an offer of her home for one of two of the visitors, the chairman, well, life would be a joy until after the convention, if not forever.

The shades were drawn and the rooms lighted with yellow shaded candles. The ceremony took place in a corner of the living room in which had been constructed a bridal bower by the use of white draperies, ferns, daisy chains and smilax. While the vows were taken, the bridal couple stood before an altar of white festooned with smilax and ferns on which was placed the family Bible. Tall were placed on each side. 25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance and an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

satin, made with round neck and short puff sleeves. Her tulle veil was secured in cap effect by a wreath of pearls and tube roses and she carried a colonial bouquet of bride's roses. Her only ornament was a pendant of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom. During the ceremony, Miss Shipps played Schumann's "Traumerl" and during the congratulations Mrs. Verne Fakes played an instrumental group. The wedding dinner followed the ceremony to which about forty guests were bidden. Four girl friends of the bride, Miss Nellie Morford, Miss Lenore Plummer, Miss Roine Gray and Miss Delma Albright assisted in entertaining. The bride's cake in small packages, tied with yellow ribbon and placed in a large basket tied with yellow tulle, was given to the departing guests by Miss Hazel Jones, a sister of the bride. The newly weds left on the afternoon train for a short honeymoon trip to St. Joseph and Kansas City after which they will be at home on the groom's farm a mile south of Pickering. The bride is a graduate of the Maryville Conservatory of Music and one of the most popular members of the younger set at Pickering. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eri Bosch, living near Pickering.

AMOUNT OF FEED CONSUMED
Quantity Eaten by Hen in Year and Cost Given by Maine Experiment Station.

The question as to the amount of feed a hen will eat is best answered by the following interesting figures: The Maine experiment station, in the course of recent tests extending over a period of one year, found that a hen in this time consumed 90 pounds of grain and meal mixture, 40 pounds of oyster shell, 24 pounds of bone, 2 pounds of grit, 24 pounds of charcoal and 10 pounds of clover. These materials cost the station $1.45. This is about the average cost per hen for most poultrymen, although we have met people who have done even better than this. It is perhaps higher than the average farmer pays to feed his hens, but it is a fair estimate for those who raise chickens as a business.

HOPPER FOR POULTRY

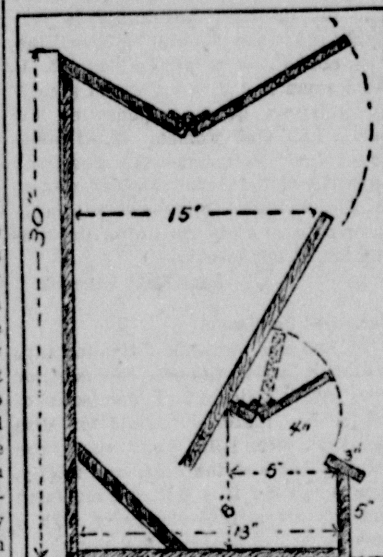

Idea Is Finding Place on Many Farms With Small Flocks.

Reduces the Labor of Care and Feeding and Also Supplies Fowls With Necessary Ingredients of Well-Balanced Ration.

The hopper feeding of poultry of all classes is becoming customary among the large poultrymen and is finding a place on many farms and in small flocks.

The main idea is to reduce the labor of care and feeding and at the same time supply the fowls with the necessary ingredients of a balanced ration. Mixtures of ground grains and feeds are most frequently used in the hoppers. The fowls seem not likely to overfeed of such mixtures and when whole grains are fed in litter and sufficient exercise induced in this manner, good results are had both in egg production and body development of young fowls. Growing chicks on free range do splendidly when hopper fed and the time and labor of caring for them is reduced to a minimum.

A dry mash much used is composed of the following: Bran, 100 pounds;

Self-Feeding Hopper.

ground oats, 100 pounds; cornmeal, 50 pounds; alfalfa meal, 10 pounds. To this should be added 15 or 20 pounds of good beef scrap unless insect life on the range is plentiful.

For year around feeding, the hopper method will be found of value if properly managed and will save much labor.

The cut herewith shows the detailed construction of a dry-feed hopper that is proving wholly satisfactory at the Missouri state poultry experiment station. The dimensions given are for a hopper for mature fowls and can be reduced for young stock.

KEEPING THE SOIL WELL FED

Addition of Phosphorus or Potassium or a Combination of Both May Be Found Necessary.

Good use of manure and some clover and clover sod plowed under in a short rotation may not give the fullest results desired, even though a good deep seedbed is made and the best of the seed is planted. Manure and green clover plowed under may not prove a balanced ration to permit the soil to produce maximum crops. Here soil science should be brought into use to determine what can be used for best results to balance up the manure and clover if the soil seems to fail to supply all the necessary elements. An addition of phosphorus or potassium, or a combination of both these elements in the form of phosphate and potash fertilizers may be necessary.

The heavier soils usually contain a large amount of potassium and hence it is seldom required as a fertilizer. So long as these soils are well supplied with active organic matter this element will become available to meet crop needs. In some cases, however, some potash fertilizer may prove a profitable investment. Marsh soils, as a rule, require potash fertilizers.

KEEP WATCH ON BROOD MARE

Best Care Possible Is Needed During Few Weeks Preceding Foaling—Give Plenty of Water.

(By S. A. ALEXANDER, Wisconsin Experiment Station.)

Liberal daily exercise, light, steady, careful work and a roomy box stall at night are what the brood mare needs. Feed her sound, whole oats, bran and mixed hay or timothy. It is very risky to feed moldy or otherwise damaged feed.

Brood mares should be kept away from cornfields for there are certain dangers arising from the smuts and other spore diseases likely to be found on corn stalks. Give her plenty of fresh, clean water at all times.

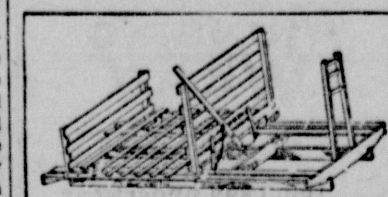

The best possible care is needed during the few weeks or months immediately before foaling. Work at this time is good for the mare, but jerking, heavy hauling, wading through deep snow or over marshy grounds and work on slippery roads should be avoided because of the resultant strain on the animal's body.

The man on the hay rack can tell the driver to go ahead and calmly tramp down the hay as it rolls up on the front end. When that is loaded, he moves a lever that unlocks a reciprocal truck on the bed of the rack and the hay loading surface of the rack is moved ahead and the rear half brought up under the loader to be loaded as was the front.—Farming Business.

Farmer Can Add Materially to Returns by Little Thought—Heat Is Great Enemy of Eggs.

Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile. Farmers are urged to follow these simple rules, which cost nothing but time and thought and will add dollars to the poultry yard returns.

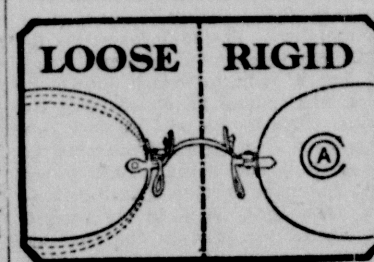

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

SAYINGS OF PROF. HEDRICK

Careful Account Kept of Cost of Growing Apples and of Profits Under Intelligent Management.

Professor Hedrick of the New York state experiment station at Geneva has kept careful account of the cost of growing apples, and of the profits under intelligent management. The net income from the orchard averaged during the ten year test period $93.74 an acre, equal to 18½ per cent on a $500 investment. He expects the orchard to do as well or better during the next twenty years.

The question of tillage versus sod mulch in orchards has been often and heatedly discussed. Professor Hedrick states that for every dollar he has taken out of the sod half of the test orchard he has taken $1.54 out of the tilled half.

Apples are found more highly colored on sod than on tilled trees. They are also earlier and drier. The tilled fruit is about two weeks later, keeps better and is of higher quality. The tilled trees now are much better in general appearance.

In the dining room, yellow and white were the colors used. The table for the bridal party was spread with a cloth made the year the bride was born, and given her by her grand mother. It was centered with a large brass basket, with a handle bow of yellow tulle and filled with bride's roses. On each side were crystal candle holders, tied with yellow tulle, and around the base of the basket was a wreath of smilax. Each of the small tables held a brass basket of bride's roses. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Roy Wolfers sang two wedding songs, "Because" and "Come Love Divine," after which Miss May Shipps began the ever impressive Lohngren wedding march as the bridal party descended the stair. The Rev. J. M. Plummer led the party, and he was followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Robert Wrigley of Savannah. The maid of honor, Miss Ida Bosch, gown in dainty white with sash and trimming of yellow, came next. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. The bride made a charming picture in a gown of white

Maryville theatre goers will recognize several of the local stars, likewise some of their best friends in the photo play of "The Man at the Throttle," which will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night of next week at the Fern theatre.

The reel is in the making now, in fact it's in our midst.

It is being directed by C. D. Tinsley of the Superior Film company and the cast is composed of local people. The house scenes are taken in the residence of R. G. Saunderson on West First street. A number were taken there yesterday and along the streets. The story is a very thrilling one, and one of the big scenes is the wreck of a fast mail train.

The stars of the play, and the characters they portray are:

Bernard Powers, superintendent of railroad, A. J. Luppold.
Helen, his daughter, Miss Ethel Wells.
Jack Manning, an engineer, W. Edison Blagg.
Jim Hilton, another engineer, Frank Schumacher.

Others of the cast, Miss Bessie Scott and Miss Ola Smith.

One of the scenes is that of a wedding, and it will be staged in the First Christian church, under the direction of Mrs. Will Wallis, Jr. The wedding will be portrayed as a very fashionable event of unusual beauty. All of the parts, beside that of the stars, will be taken by local people and all of the scenes will be taken in or near Maryville.

FOOTBALL ASSURED

BUT NO OUTSIDE GAMES WILL BE PLAYED THIS YEAR.

WARD SCHOOLS CHANGE

Miss Margaret McDougal Transferred to Central Building.—Small Attendance at Franklin.

Maryville High School will play football this year but will schedule no outside games, it was announced by Superintendent W. M. Westbrook this morning, after a conference with George P. McGrew, principal of the High school, and Paul Becker, director of athletics.

The boys will first be required to condition themselves fully before scrimmage will be allowed. This will be done chiefly by running signals and learning the fundamentals of the game. Every boy will have to have his parent's consent before entering scrimmage.

The decision not to have outside games is a disappointment to the seniors principally as it means no football in high school for them.

A few games may be played between picked teams but the work will be chiefly as preparation for the game next year and to get the athletes in shape for basketball.

The active basketball season will begin about December 1. The executive committee has definitely decided to enter the Northwest Missouri Inter-High School association. The application will be sent soon. This association has had charge of the track meets in the spring but is taking charge of all athletics this year.

The board of control will meet in Kansas City November 4-6 at which time a schedule will be arranged. J. C. Godbey of Tarkio is president of the association and P. C. Callaway of Mound City secretary.

Change in Teaching Force.
Miss Margaret McDougal of the Franklin school has been transferred to the Central building and all the fourth grades of the ward schools will be changed back to Washington. Each of the other schools will have three teachers with a grade each except at the Franklin school where two teachers will have a grade and a half each.

This change was thought advisable by Superintendent Westbrook because of the heavy enrollment at all the ward schools except Franklin where the attendance is small.

The Rev. S. D. Harlan in Charge of Meetings at Palestine Church.
The Rev. S. D. Harlan, pastor of the Palestine Christian church, south of the city, and of the Christian church of Graham, is conducting a revival service at the Palestine church which is being very well attended.

Sunday morning Mr. Harlan will speak on "The Ark a Type of the Church," and at the evening service the sermon subject will be "The Bible." The meetings will continue next week if the interest warrants. The sermon subject announced for Monday night is "A Game of Chance."

The defense asserts that Hansen followed Mr. Thornhill there and started the trouble. The plaintiff asserted that he did not know the defendant was there but had gone over to give Jim Andy Ford a special cigar he had made for him. But Hansen drew a chair directly at the side of the one in which Thornhill was sitting and started the talk.

Mr. Thornhill jumped up and slapped (according to the defense), the plaintiff clear out of the chair upon the floor. Hansen went that day to the prosecuting attorney, but Mr. Sawyer held that the facts did not warrant the state in getting out a warrant for assault.

A PENNY TO HANSEN

ONE CENT DAMAGES ASSESSED UPON JOHN G. THORNHILL.

NO PUNITIVE DAMAGES

Jury Finds That Penny Will Cover Actual Loss.—Case Attracts a Large Crowd.

"We, the jury in the case of John F. Hansen vs. John G. Thornhill, find for the plaintiff for actual damages only, and assess such damages at one cent, one-one hundredths of a dollar. H. H. McClurg, foreman."

The suit was probably the most interesting of this season of circuit court. A crowded court room followed the evidence yesterday and the attorneys arguments to the jury late in the afternoon and last night.

John G. Thornhill slapped Hansen and called him a few names he could think of; he admitted that frankly on the stand. The trouble took place in the Knox garage, March 31, 1915. Mr. Thornhill said that he was ashamed and sorry for his words and actions.

J. A. Ford and E. E. ("Doc") Thompson were eye witnesses who were called to the stand.

Thompson made a small sensation by saying that Hansen met him on the street recently and offered to get him a Ford with the money he won in the suit and put him into the "jitney" business, if he would testify as the plaintiff desired.

Hansen asserted that his shoulder was broken and that he was incapacitated for work as he had been able to make 500 cigars a day previously and now could only make 180 daily when at his best. He had suffered great anguish of mind also, he said.

The defense produced J. H. Thorp, Mrs. Edward F. Hamlin, and several other neighbors who testified that Hansen had been doing all kinds of manual labor around his home.

Several of the physicians of the city were placed upon the stand and gave as their opinion that any injury he may have had was greatly aggravated by such labor.

After Thornhill had admitted striking Hansen, the attorneys for the defense turned all their energies toward mitigating the amount of the damages to be assessed. Judge Ellison's instructions to the jury were that they must find for the plaintiff if they held from the evidence that Thornhill had laid hand unlawfully upon Hansen.

The jury's duty, then, the judge said, was to determine how much damage was done to Hansen and how much should be assessed as punitive and exemplary. The evidence produced to show provocation could affect only the amount of the punitive damage and could not be considered in finding the amount of actual harm done Hansen.

Plaintiff on Defensive.
The greater part of the case was used in a defense of Hansen as the attorneys for Thornhill turned the tables and accused Hansen. They produced evidence tending to question Hansen's good citizenship.

Mr. Thornhill was provoked into the attack, according to the testimony of the witnesses for the defense by the plaintiff's activity in trying to meddle in his affairs.

Thornhill Tried to Avoid Trouble.
Mr. Thornhill said that on the day of the trouble, he met Hansen on the west side of the square and the latter tried to start a conversation about the legal matters. He was told that he didn't want to talk with him. Mr. Thornhill went over to Knox's garage in the afternoon and Hansen came in and tried to start the talk again and the "knock-out" blow followed.

The defense asserts that Hansen followed Mr. Thornhill there and started the trouble. The plaintiff asserted that he did not know the defendant was there but had gone over to give Jim Andy Ford a special cigar he had made for him. But Hansen drew a chair directly at the side of the one in which Thornhill was sitting and started the talk.

Mr. Thornhill jumped up and slapped (according to the defense), the plaintiff clear out of the chair upon the floor. Hansen went that day to the prosecuting attorney, but Mr. Sawyer held that the facts did not warrant the state in getting out a warrant for assault.

The plaintiff asserted that he did not know the defendant was there but had gone over to give Jim Andy Ford a special cigar he had made for him. But Hansen drew a chair directly at the side of the one in which Thornhill was sitting and started the talk.

Mr. Thornhill jumped up and slapped (according to the defense), the plaintiff clear out of the chair upon the floor. Hansen went that day to the prosecuting attorney, but Mr. Sawyer held that the facts did not warrant the state in getting out a warrant for assault.

the attorneys for the plaintiff and the arguments before the jury for the defense were made by L. C. Cook, Wesley Blagg and John Dawson.

The jury retired to their room about 8:45 o'clock last night and a decision was reached about 11 o'clock. The jury spent the greater part of its time, it is said, in trying to give a verdict according to instructions so that the defendant would not have the costs to pay. The costs will be about $100. So Mr. Thornhill may have to pay the clerk $100.01.

Court will not be held again until Monday morning owing to Judge Ellison being indisposed. Several of the members of the bar were also indisposed. The court is technically still sitting, however, in order that the sheriff may hold several sales tomorrow.

M. E. Ford took the bench during most of the night session last night.

COUNTY COURT ADJOURNED

Asks Mrs. Henry Wray for Small Strip of Land to Build Shorter Bridge.
The county court adjourned yesterday afternoon. It ordered the destruction by fire of all assessment lists filed in the county clerk's office for 1910 and prior years.

The court has asked Mrs. Henry Wray, who lives on the township line between Hopkins and Union, for a small piece of land so that a bridge may be built straight across a ditch with a span of only thirty feet instead of diagonally requiring a span of 60 feet.

The bridge is to cost about $125 if the 30-foot span can be built. Mrs. Wray refused the court here Monday but James Downing, township trustee, who accompanied the court yesterday believes she will consent.

100 Men Mopped Field.
The national commission announced at 10:45 this morning that the first game would be played today, notwithstanding the fact that it had rained all night long. Water was standing all over the field but the sun came out and the announcement was made.

The umpires had not yet reported on the condition of the grounds but every effort was made to get the ground in shape. More than 100 men spent the morning with scrubbing brushes, scrapers, mops and other means of removing the water.

Wagon loads of sawdust were placed all over the field, then scooped back up taking the water with it. Gasoline was burned all over the infield later in the day. Canvass was stretched all over the field and boxes last night but the rain was so heavy it ran through.

Garry Herrmann of Cincinnati, chairman of the commission, said, "Although the mud on the field is several inches deep, we are not going to disappoint the thousands if it is humanly possible not to do so."

A crowd of more than 4,000 fans who were determined to see the game, stood all night long in the rain waiting for the sale of the dollar seats for the bleachers. They were a bedraggled looking bunch and were very tired this morning as they were prevented by the rain from sitting or lying on the benches.

The thousands stood doggedly in line, however, and there were very few deserters. Sandwiches and warm drinks had a ready sale among them and many went to sleep on the benches as soon as they were admitted to the bleachers.

Announcement.

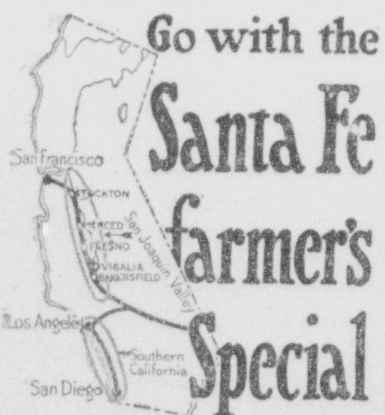

We are authorized to announce Robert I. Young of Buchanan county, as a Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district subject to the primary election to be held August 8, 1916.

Considering the number of "library dates" which college boys and girls make, the name of the Kansas university building, Spooner library, seems very appropriate.

The burning of two homes in Nodaway county in as many days this week seems to show that Fire Prevention Day which is to be observed all over the country tomorrow is needed locally.

If something isn't done in this city to make motorists slow down somewhat at the intersection of streets and to force them to use their warning signals, Maryville will awake with a rush some day to an auto tragedy. Like Chicago then, they'll commence inspecting all the boats after the East-land has capsized.

It is said that coal is the next thing to take a boom on account of the European affair. France has been getting her coal from the Belgian mines which are now in the hands of the Germans; there is a shortage in England while Spain and Denmark are both looking this way for winter's heat. All this means increased work for the miners and increased profits for the operators but, until something has been discovered to take its place fully, there is a grave question as to whether this country should permit its coal to be exported in large quantities. The time is coming when our

This tour is especially for rural folks and others interested. I want you to see the San Joaquin Valley and talk to the people about the greater production per acre, the balmy, healthful climate, the year-round growing season. You will be the guests of many communities in Southern California and San Joaquin Valley. You will be taken on auto trips to see their farms, orchards and homes. We have no land to sell. We just want you to see and know California.

Let me tell you at what small cost this trip will be made. We will live on our own special cars most of the time, so saving hotel bills. Go with us on the Santa Fe, stop a day at Grand Canyon and return Santa Fe or any direct route.

This party will leave Chicago October 14, reach San Francisco about October 23, and return from there at your pleasure up to December 31. You'll see rural California—as you could see it in no other way. You'll see the two great world exhibitions. Also you'll see the Grand Canyon of Arizona.

mines will be worked out at the present rate of consumption and the future comfort of our own people must be conserved.

The 4,000 Chicago saloons have announced that they will fight bitterly the order closing them on Sunday although that has been the Illinois law for fifty years. Still liquor men wonder why the American people have been closing an average of forty saloons a day for the last ten years. The saloon is the author of its own troubles. The everlasting determination to do something that the law does not permit by a certain number has brought grief to all and from present indications will cause the business to be outlawed throughout the whole country.

THE SENATE FILIBUSTER.

Some say filibustering in the United States senate must stop; others say not. The fact is that, when they are talking against a bill that you favor, it is a pernicious practice and should be stopped but when they are killing a bill that you are opposed to, it is a just and wise proceeding. The history of national legislation reveals but few measures for which there was a popular demand that have been defeated by the senate filibuster. Of course it is possible to defeat temporarily meritorious bills that the people have not become generally interested in. On the other hand, the filibuster has been the means of defeating some very bad legislation such as the "force bill" and others that might be mentioned. Members of the United States are supposed to be too big, too broad and too patriotic to make use of the filibuster except upon broad lines and when they believe a great wrong is involved. This supposition is not always well founded but in the main it is. An opposition that holds out in the form of public debate that is given world wide publicity must have some conscientious convictions behind it. On the other hand, there is a considerable menace to the public welfare when bills may be hurried through by sheer force of numbers. This would make it possible to pass bills on which the public was not informed without attracting much attention and might embrace more danger than the filibuster. It is a positive proposition while the filibuster is altogether negative. The filibuster has its disadvantages and has been abused but it is a safe rule in legislation to let the light shine.

Still the Comments Come.

The Federation of Women's Clubs of Maryville, Mo., distinguished itself Saturday by getting out a twenty-four page woman's edition of the Daily Democrat-Forum, the editors having turned over the paper to the ladies for that day. As may be imagined, they issued a fine paper, bright and newsworthy and interesting from front page to back, a credit to the ladies themselves, to their sex and to the office from which it was issued.

The managing editor of the edition was Mrs. W. C. VanCleve, the wife of one of the owners of the Democrat-Forum and a daughter of J. N. Hagood of this city. The advertising managers were also ladies, as were the department editors, twelve in number.

With courtesy and grace, in the following paragraph closing the editorial column, the ladies bowed themselves out of their position of trust and responsibility:

"Thank you, Mr. VanCleve. Thank you, Mr. Todd. It has been great fun and a novel experience. But on the level, we are perfectly willing to go back to our housekeeping and allow you to run the paper from now on. Keeping house and minding the baby is not such a tough job after all and since an all wise Providence decreed that the running of newspapers should be in the hands of mere men let us leave it so!"—La Grange, (Mo.) Indicator.

Gentlemen: Your "Woman's Edition" was a good one and reflected much credit upon its editors. I am very much interested in the Woman's Rest Rooms movement. That is something that we need badly at Carrollton. We have a room in the basement of the court room that in a way serves that purpose but it is not comfortable neither is it attractive. We would be glad to borrow the cut, (proof attached) and would be glad to hear in detail as to how you brought about the rest rooms in Maryville, plan of work, cost, how money was raised and all.

"CASCARETS" FOR A COLD, BAD BREATH OR SICK HEADACHE.

Best for Liver and Bowels, for Bilelessness, Sour Stomach and Constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now. Furred Tongue, Bad Colds, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too. 10-8-15

OUTBREAKS OF HOG CHOLERA

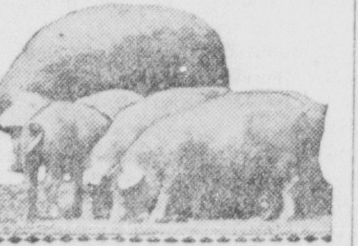

Important Thing is to Recognize Disease Soon as Possible, That Serum May Be Applied.

It is estimated that at least 90 per cent of all deaths of hogs from disease in the United States are caused by hog cholera. Therefore, in the case of any fatal outbreak, the chances are about one to one that the cause is hog cholera. It is true that other infections may and do frequently complicate outbreaks of hog cholera, but in such cases the germ of hog cholera is the primary cause of the disease; and if we can take care of the germ of hog cholera the pig will usually overcome the other infection himself.

The symptoms exhibited by hogs sick of hog cholera are not sufficiently distinct from those produced by other maladies so that a positive diagnosis can be made except through a careful consideration of a number of other factors in connection with the symptoms. From a practical standpoint the important thing is to recognize hog cholera as soon as possible after its appearance in a herd in order that anti-hog cholera serum may be applied before the disease progresses too far. Good serum may be depended upon to protect well hogs, and even to cure a large percentage of those in the earliest stages of the disease, but it will not be of much avail when used upon hogs that are already visibly sick.

The following suggestions to farmers are offered as an aid to the early recognition of hog cholera in a herd:

1. Keep posted concerning the condition and health of hogs on other farms in your neighborhood. Sick hogs on a neighboring farm are a positive menace, for the germs of hog cholera are easily carried on the feet of men or animals.
2. Look over your herd regularly in order that any sick hogs may be promptly discovered.
3. If any hogs in the herd are found to be "off feed" or appear in anywise sick, separate them immediately from the remainder of the herd, and keep them and the main herd under close observation daily. If there is a tendency for the disease to spread in the herd the trouble is probably hog cholera. This diagnosis may be confirmed by killing one of the sick animals and examining the organs.
4. When the first symptoms of sickness are observed an immediate change of feed sometimes corrects the trouble. This is particularly true of swill fed hogs.

5. If there is any tendency for the disease to spread in the herd do not temporize, but immediately treat the herd with serum from the state college or state live stock sanitary board. Prompt administration of the serum is essential to success.

6. Remember that hog cholera kills millions of hogs where other diseases kill thousands. Dismiss from your mind all thought of such diseases as "lung typhoid," etc., for these are generally merely fanciful designations given to hog cholera by uninformed men.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus DeLana will leave tomorrow afternoon for Kansas City, where Mrs. DeLana will take a train for El Reno, Okla., to visit relatives. Mr. DeLana will go to Nevada, Mo., on a business trip.

THE Wirthmor WAIST

$1 worth more

This is a question quite frequently asked—and its answer explains why the Waists sold here are entirely dissimilar, and so decidedly superior to what is ordinarily sold at the same or somewhat higher prices. We, in common with one other good store in practically every city of consequence throughout the States, have an arrangement with the maker which has materially lowered the cost of making and distributing these waists—and the large saving thus affected, has been used to give added value to the product. This it is that makes possible the sale of these wonderful Waists at just a dollar,

CLEAN WATER FOR CHICKENS

Easily Made Covered Fountain is Shown in the Illustration—Keep Fowls Out of the Pan.

Clean water should be provided for the poultry at all times. In order to keep the fowls from getting into the drinking pan, it is necessary to make some sort of a covering. A frame built of slats attached to a small round board at the top and a larger round board placed about a foot above the water pan makes a splendid device. When placed over the pan the chickens have free access to the water through the slats, and the water keeps much cooler by being shaded. The frame cover may easily be lifted off and the water pan cleaned and re-filled. By this arrangement the chickens can not tip the water over.

CRUDE OIL GOOD FOR SWINE

Scurvy, Contracted by Animals Running in Pastures Wet With Dew or Rain, Can Be Cured.

Quite often when pigs are running in tail pasture which is frequently wet with dew or rain, an irritating effect is produced on the skin and a sore condition commonly known as scurvy is the result. This is particularly true when hogs are pastured in rape which is more likely to have this effect than other forage crops in which the pigs may be pastured.

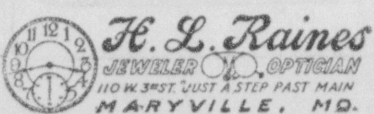

The remedy is to apply crude oil or some similar substance which will heal up the sores and protect the skin from further irritation. Where this is not done a stoppage of growth and sometimes the loss of the pig is the result. Often this will be neglected unless some special provision is made which will permit the hog to treat itself. Sometimes burlap sacks are wrapped around a post in the pasture and kept saturated with oil. Better and more economical are some of the modern automatic devices which will apply oil in suitable quantities whenever the hog rubs as he will do against any object when his skin is irritated from any cause.

This will be just as effective in subduing lice which often prey upon hogs where attention is not given to their eradication. It is attention to little details of this kind which makes for efficiency in farm management and satisfactory profit from every department of the farm production.

PHONES—OFFICE 42 HOME 683

Club Women, Please.

Next week, the club women of the city will have for their guests some of the most notable women of Missouri women who have done a large work, who have significant messages to bring to the women of Maryville and women whom it will be pleasure to open any home in the city. In all gatherings ever held here, Maryville has been toasted far and wide for her hospitality and the women of the federation whose guests these visitors will be, want the welcome shown next week to lack nothing of the real spirit of other occasions that are still told of. The visitors are to be entertained in the homes for lodging and breakfast only. The season may be a little inconvenient in some cases but the sessions are only for three days and many of the delegates will remain but one night. The tax on one's hospitality is very light and none should be unwilling. The committee of which Mrs. T. L. Wilderman is chairman, would greatly appreciate a quick response on the part of all club women. If all members would telephone the chairman an offer of her home for one of two of the visitors, the chairman,—well, life would be a joy until after the convention, if not forever.

DAMAGE BY CURRANT MAGGOT

(By C. P. GILLETTE, Colorado Experiment Station.)

Perhaps the worst pest to the currant and gooseberry is the maggot that gets into the fruit before the berries are ripe, causing them to turn red and drop. The adult insect is a fly about the size of an ordinary house fly, but a light yellowish brown in color with dusky bands crossing its wings. This fly deposits its eggs, one in a place, just beneath the skin of the currant and gooseberries, which upon hatching develop into the maggot. The fruit drops to the ground and the maggot escapes and burrows a little beneath the surface of the soil and remains until the next spring. We do not know any remedy aside from that of allowing chickens to run

among the currant and gooseberry bushes after the fruit is off, for the purpose of picking up these maggots in the older stages of their development. Spading the soil around the bushes so that the surface soil will be covered with four or five inches of fresh dirt will also destroy a great many of the insects. Whatever can be done toward gathering the infested fruit and destroying it will also lessen the number of flies to destroy berries the following spring.

Jones-Bosch.

A very beautiful wedding took place at one o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford W. Jones of Pickering, when their eldest daughter, Edith Adeline, was given in marriage to Mr. William Edward Bosch. The home was beautifully decorated with quantities of asparagus fern, smilax, daisy chains and clusters of yellow and white dahlias and roses. The shades were drawn and the rooms lighted with yellow shaded candles. The ceremony took place in a corner of the living room in which had been constructed a bridal bower by the use of white draperies, ferns, daisy chains and smilax. While the vows were taken, the bridal couple stood before an altar of white festooned with smilax and ferns on which was placed the family Bible. Tall were placed on each side. were placed on each side. At the center of the back of the bower stood a tall white pedestal surmounted by a large potted fern from which festoons of smilax were draped to each side of the altar. In the dining room, yellow and white were the colors used. The table for the bridal party was spread with a cloth made the year the bride was born, and given her by her grand mother. It was centered with a large brass basket, with a handle bow of yellow tulle and filled with bride's roses. On each side were crystal candle holders, tied with yellow tulle, and around the base of the basket was a wreath of smilax. Each of the small tables held a brass basket of bride's roses. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Roy Wolfers sang two wedding songs, "Because" and "Come Love Divine," after which Miss May Shippis began the ever impressive Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party descended the stair. The Rev. J. M. Plummer led the party, and he was followed by the groom and his best man, Mr. Robert Wrigley of Savannah. The maid of honor, Miss Ida Bosch, gowned in dainty white with sash and trimming of yellow, came next. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. The bride made a charming picture in a gown of white

25 CENTS DESTROYS YOUR DANDRUFF AND STOPS FALLING HAIR.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance and an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few week's use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

satin, made with round neck and short puff sleeves. Her tulle veil was secured in cap effect by a wreath of pearls and tube roses and she carried a colonial bouquet of bride's roses. Her only ornament was a pendant of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom. During the ceremony, Miss Shippis played Schumann's "Traumerei" and during the congratulations Mrs. Verne Fakes played an instrumental group. The wedding dinner followed the ceremony to which about forty guests were bidden. Four girl friends of the bride, Miss Nellie Morford, Miss Lenore Plummer, Miss Roine Gray and Miss Delma Albright assisted in entertaining. The bride's cake in small packages, tied with yellow ribbon and placed in a large basket tied with yellow tulle, was given to the departing guests by Miss Hazel Jones, a sister of the bride. The newly weds left on the afternoon train for a short honeymoon trip to St. Joseph and Kansas City after which they will be at home on the groom's farm a mile south of Pickering. The bride is a graduate of the Maryville Conservatory of Music and one of the most popular members of the younger set at Pickering. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eri Bosch, living near Pickering.

AMOUNT OF FEED CONSUMED

Quantity Eaten by Hen in Year and Cost Given by Maine Experiment Station.

The question as to the amount of feed a hen will eat is best answered by the following interesting figures: The Maine experiment station, in the course of recent tests extending over a period of one year, found that a hen in this time consumed 90 pounds of grain and meal mixture, 40 pounds of oyster shell, 2.4 pounds of bone, 2 pounds of grit, 2.4 pounds of charcoal and 10 pounds of clover. These materials cost the station $1.45. This is about the average cost per hen for most poultrymen, although we have met people who have done even better than this. It is perhaps higher than the average farmer pays to feed his hens, but it is a fair estimate for those who raise chickens as a business.

HOPPER FOR POULTRY

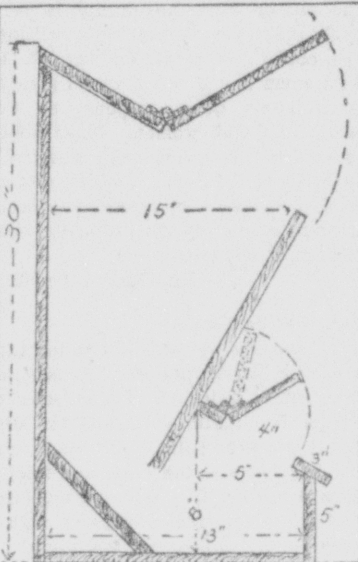

Idea is Finding Place on Many Farms With Small Flocks.

Reduces the Labor of Care and Feeding and Also Supplies Fowls With Necessary Ingredients of Well-Balanced Ration.

The hopper feeding of poultry of all classes is becoming customary among the large poultrymen and is finding a place on many farms and in small flocks.

The main idea is to reduce the labor of care and feeding and at the same time supply the fowls with the necessary ingredients of a balanced ration. Mixtures of ground grains and feeds are most frequently used in the hoppers. The fowls seem not likely to overfeed of such mixtures and when whole grains are fed in litter and sufficient exercise induced in this manner, good results are had both in egg production and body development of young fowls. Growing chicks on free range do splendidly when hopper fed and the time and labor of caring for them is reduced to a minimum.

A dry mash much used is composed of the following: Bran, 100 pounds;

Self-Feeding Hopper.

ground oats, 100 pounds; cornmeal, 50 pounds; alfalfa meal, 10 pounds. To this should be added 15 or 20 pounds of good beef scrap unless insect life on the range is plentiful.

For year around feeding, the hopper method will be found of value if properly managed and will save much labor.

The cut herewith shows the detailed construction of a dry-feed hopper that is proving wholly satisfactory at the Missouri state poultry experiment station. The dimensions given are for a hopper for mature fowls and can be reduced for young stock.

KEEPING THE SOIL WELL FED

Addition of Phosphorus or Potassium or a Combination of Both May Be Found Necessary.

Good use of manure and some clover and clover sod plowed under in a short rotation may not give the fullest results desired, even though a good deep seedbed is made and the best of the seed is planted. Manure and green clover plowed under may not prove a balanced ration to permit the soil to produce maximum crops. Here soil science should be brought into use to determine what can be used for best results to balance up the manure and clover if the soil seems to fail to supply all the necessary elements. An addition of phosphorus or potassium, or a combination of both these elements in the form of phosphate and potash fertilizers may be necessary.

The heavier soils usually contain a large amount of potassium and hence it is seldom required as a fertilizer. So long as these soils are well supplied with active organic matter this element will become available to meet crop needs. In some cases, however, some potash fertilizer may prove a profitable investment. Marsh soils, as a rule, require potash fertilizers.

KEEP WATCH ON BROOD MARE

Best Care Possible Is Needed During Few Weeks Preceding Foaling—Give Plenty of Water.

(By S. A. ALEXANDER, Wisconsin Experiment Station.)

Liberal daily exercise, light, steady, careful work and a roomy box stall at night are what the brood mare needs. Feed her sound, whole oats, bran and mixed hay or timothy. It is very risky to feed moldy or otherwise damaged feed.

Brood mares should be kept away from cornfields for there are certain dangers arising from the smuts and other spore diseases likely to be found on corn stalks. Give her plenty of fresh, clean water at all times.

The best possible care is needed during the few weeks or months immediately before foaling. Work at this time is good for the mare, but jerking, heavy hauling, wading through deep snow or over marshy grounds and work on slippery roads should be avoided because of the resultant strain on the animal's body.

GOOD HAY RACK FOR LOADER

Device Intended to Do Away With Much Labor Necessary to Keep From Stopping the Team.

Those farm youths who have toiled beneath a 98-degree sun in an attempt to load ahead of a loader that was sweeping up heavy windrows, will see that the head of the farm looks into this invention that is designed to do away with the killing pace they have had to put up to keep from stopping the team and resting while they distributed the piles of hay that rolled up. The man on the hay rack can tell the driver to go ahead and calmly tramp down the hay as it rolls up on the front end. When that is loaded, he moves a lever that unlocks a reciprocal truck on the bed of the rack and the hay loading surface of the rack is moved ahead and the rear half brought up under the loader to be loaded as was the front.—Farming Business.

FIVE SOUND POULTRY RULES

Farmer Can Add Materially to Returns by Little Thought—Heat is Great Enemy of Eggs.

Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile. Farmers are urged to follow these simple rules, which cost nothing but time and thought and will add dollars to the poultry yard returns.

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

In all things, it has proven, times without number, that ability and ambition combined with conscientious scruples will win. So it is with M. L. Grable, contract painter and paper-hanger.

We have started business on a small scale and high principles and are building up a large business on merited confidence, thereby securing some of the largest contracts which have been let this year.

It has always been my aim to have owners satisfied, thereby gaining their friendship and the confidence of others as borne out by the testimony of the many satisfied owners for whom we have worked.

I do my contracting independent of any paint firm or building contractor and am therefore the better prepared to give my customers the best of materials and workmanship. My workmen are the best and we use only the highest grade materials on the market.

SAYINGS OF PROF. HEDRICK

Careful Account Kept of Cost of Growing Apples and of Profits Under Intelligent Management.

Professor Hedrick of the New York state experiment station at Geneva has kept careful account of the cost of growing apples, and of the profits under intelligent management. The net income from the orchard averaged during the ten year test period $93.74 an acre, equal to 18½ per cent on a $500 investment. He expects the orchard to do as well or better during the next twenty years.

The question of tillage versus sod mulch in orchards has been often and heatedly discussed. Professor Hedrick states that for every dollar he has taken out of the sod half of the test orchard he has taken $1.54 out of the tilled half.

Apples are found more highly colored on sod than on tilled trees. They are also earlier and drier. The tilled fruit is about two weeks later, keeps better and is of higher quality. The tilled trees now are much better in general appearance.
